I am honored to inaugurate the Martin Dow Health Centre at the IBA main campus. As an organization, Martin Dow has been committed to community welfare as part of its DNA, with a Mission to invest in the fields of education and health to Create Distinction for Life. I am very proud that Martin Dow has carried this ideology over the past decade and devoted the collective energies of our board members and colleagues to translate our noble vision into concrete programs that can improve the lives of people. We wish to serve as ambassadors when it comes to creating strong partnerships with prestigious institutions such as the IBA and we have built the Martin Dow Health Centre to provide the students, faculty and staff of the institution with medical facilities on-premises. As the Group Chairman of Martin Dow I feel it is my duty to further commit to the philanthropic mission and vision of our Company and to continue achieving breakthrough success in the field of healthcare for our country. I along with my team am incredibly proud of this project and pray that it will assist individuals with their daily healthcare requirements.

The IBA wishes to acknowledge the generous contribution from Martin Dow, one of the largest locally owned pharmaceutical companies in Pakistan, in setting up a Health Centre at its Main Campus. The Health Centre is already making a difference to the care and comfort of staff and faculty. Not many people realize that while the IBA remains one of Pakistan's best business schools, it has diversified in the past few decades to become a premier institution of higher education in many other disciplines as well. For example, the IBA has long had a strong department of computer sciences. In more recent years, departments of economics and social sciences have been added as well. In addition to formal academic departments, the IBA provides education services through its professional development centers, such as the Centre for Executive Education (CEE). These services are provided in a more flexible format. This allows the IBA to be active in areas where it does not have formal degree programs. For the last few years, the CEE has been offering a post-graduate diploma in healthcare and hospital management. This diploma was developed in response to market demand for trained professionals in healthcare management, a burgeoning sector in the country. The diploma was introduced in consultation with the leading local hospitals and international healthcare institutes.

It gives me great pleasure to announce that the Martin Dow Health Centre, in collaboration with IBA, one of Pakistan's top business schools, has formally been inaugurated at the IBA campus. The Martin Dow Health Centre is a modern and well equipped stand-alone customized medical facility for the IBA students, faculty and staff with emergency treatment facilities. With the challenges of university life, having an on-premises medical centre is a critical need which we have addressed. We at Martin Dow believe that health and education are key pillars for society to progress and we continue in our journey to work rigorously in the promotion of both causes. The Martin Dow Group values and admires the achievements of the IBA and I am grateful to the directors and staff of the IBA for assisting us in making this special project come alive. With IBA being my alma mater, it gives me great pride to have had the opportunity to play a bigger role for the prosperity of this magnificent institution.

Martin Dow Health Centre

Located at the main campus of The Institute of Business Administration (IBA), the Martin Dow Health Centre was built keeping in view the needs of students as well as faculty and the non teaching staff of the IBA to provide quality medical facilities on the premises. The Health Centre is a purpose built fully equipped medical facility on-premises at the IBA. As part of quality health services, the centre has a male and female paramedic available at all times during class hours with doctors and staff on site to deal with medical emergencies and a well-equipped pharmacy to handle first-aid requirements. The Health Centre has separate male and female examination rooms, daycare rooms as well as a nursing station to provide the basic healthcare requirements to all on campus. Other than medical needs, Martin Dow Health Centre also accommodates professional counselors to help students deal with the pressures of university life.

Martin Dow Recognizes The Gold Standard

Academic excellence is the cornerstone of a good university and rewarding top rated performers is an integral part of Martin Dow's DNA. Excellence should be showcased and role modeled and Martin Dow has taken the lead at the IBA by sponsoring gold medals to outstanding students at the annual convocation since 2015. These gold medals are awarded on 5 categories from Overall Best Student Graduate Program in Business Administration & Computer Sciences, Overall Best Student Undergrad, and Overall Marketing & Finance Gold Medals. These accolades bring out the best in all students and give the youth the extra confidence to enter and make a difference in the real world.
